From Your Pastor:

Consider these words from Charles Haddon Spurgeon:

If it were within the range of human capacity to conceive a time when God dwelt alone, without his creatures, we should then have one of the grandest and most stupendous ideas of God. There was a season when as yet the sun had never run his race, nor commenced flinging his golden rays across space, to gladden the earth. There was an era when no stars sparkled in the firmament, for there was no sea of azure in which they might float. There was a time when all that we now behold of God's great universe was yet unborn, slumbering within the mind of God, as yet uncreated and non-existent; yet there was God, and he was "over all blessed forever;" though no seraphs hymned his praises, though no strong-winged cherubs flashed like lightning to do his high behests, though he was without a retinue, yet he sat as a king on his throne, the mighty God, forever to be worshipped—the Dread Supreme, in solemn silence dwelling by himself in vast immensity, making the placid clouds his canopy, and the light from his own countenance forming the brightness of his glory. God was, and God is.

(From a sermon on "Sovereignty & Salvation")

Spurgeon then went on to declare how horrible it is for mankind to dare compare itself with God Almighty. What pride we have, when we attempt to stand ourselves next to God, challenging His authority and magnitude, ignoring His designs for us, working to dominate our own lives, all the while running headlong into our own peril. We would be well served to remember that there was a time when we were not, but God always has been. To Him be the glory.

In Christ Alone
