From Your Pastor:

I encountered this song this past week, from an artist named Ross King. His most recent album is entitled Perhaps I've Said Too Much. The name of the song is "Happy." Its lyrics struck deep into my heart, especially concerning how most of us view the church. Ponder the lyrics as you think about your idea of the church and how it should look.

Fourteen thousand members and me
 Watch the preacher up on the screen
 I have never shaken his hand
 My two-dimensional pastor man
 Welcome to America
 Doesn't matter if I am here
 In this crowd I could disappear
 Pastor man is all that we need
 Preaching via satellite feed
 I can watch it all from my pew
 Until the presentation is through

(Chorus) You will have to pardon me
 But this cannot be all there is
 I can't imagine God would be
 Happy about this

Smiling people up on the stage
 Everyone prefers it that way
 Smiling people out in the crowd
 No questioning or doubting allowed
 Welcome to America
 Where everyone is pretty and clean
 Where everything's rehearsed and routine

(Chorus) You will have to pardon me
 But this cannot be all there is
 I can't imagine God would be
 Happy about this

Continued

What if Jesus disagrees

With how you measure your success
 Would you find a way to still believe
 He's happy about this?

What if He's not happy about this?
 The Church is now the Body of Christ
 And every part is equally prized
 The eye can never say to the hand
 "All we need is this preacher man"
 Would you notice if I was gone?
 How easy would it be to move on?

(Chorus) You will have to pardon me
 But this cannot be all there is
 I can't imagine God would be
 Happy about this

The crowds don't necessarily
 Mean that God is truly blessed
 It's dangerous to just believe
 That He's happy about this

In Christ Alone,
 Bro. Phillip
